READING FAIR—DEC 10

As parents, it is often difficult to make sure our children are well prepared for life and good careers. One way we insure great things for them is to guide them as they prepare. Participation in some of the special events in school is a perfect place to encourage them. The December 10 Fairview Reading Fair is an excellent time for you to stress the importance of school and doing your best. Get behind your child on this project. Be a cheerleader as you hear your child's ideas and make suggestions on how to complete the project. It is his/her perfect place to encourage them. The

There's No Such Thing as "No Homework"

"I Don't Have Any Homework Tonight."

Sound familiar? Many older students begin to say this to parents in hopes of spending the night in front of the TV. Some parents make a rule: There's no such thing as a "no homework" night. If there truly is no school assignment, make up one. Ask your child to choose a subject that interests him. Then have him or her do a little research or write a paragraph.

Students can use old newspapers to find out more about a topic that's in the news. They can interview friends and relatives. Before this "homework" is finished, they have to report to you with one new thing they have learned.

But don't be surprised when your child sees you mean business, he or she may suddenly "remember" he does have a little homework.

PLEASE RECYCLE !!!

We ask you to consider passing along your child's outgrown pants, shirts, and belts to Fairview, if you do not have a younger child waiting on your child's uniform clothing. Also, some of our children have no jacket or coat. Please help us help them.
